

Gender Data Network

African regional Workshop on gender statistics
8-12 July 2024

Outline

1. Introducing the GDN
2. Activities done in 2024
3. Future Plans

Introducing the GDN

What is the GDN?

- A network of senior government gender statisticians from African countries that has now expanded to the Asia-Pacific region
- A collaboration between UNECA, UNESCAP, Data2X, Open Data Watch and PARIS21

What do we do?

- Connect our members to the wider global community that has interest in gender data
- Strengthen the capacity of members by fostering gender data expertise, facilitating cross-country learning, capacity building and training
- Ensure our members are aware of the latest methodologies to close common gender data gaps

Activities done in 2024

Webinars

1. Welcomed new Asia-Pacific members, 6 February 2024
2. LDRI: How African Governments Can Leverage Gender Data for Development, 15 February 2024

Workshop series

Tools to understand and Improve National Gender Data Systems

1. Leveraging the Gender Data Compass for Stronger Gender Data Systems, April 2 and 4, 2024
2. Connecting the Dots: Understanding Gender Data Use, June 24 and 25, 2024

Future plans

2024 and beyond

- Monthly or bimonthly online events
 - Upcoming: IDinsights, HOSTOM
- Bringing Asia-pacific and Africa members to meet in-person

Thank you

Visit GDN Website: <https://gdn.paris21.org/>